

Pennndel Woman Wins $500

A Pennndel woman, widowed 21 years, yesterday became the lone winner of COINWORD Puzzle No. 181 in a Jackpot run-off for the nearest correct solution.

"Oh no — Oh no," cried Mrs. Ann M. Turner of 212 Bellevue Ave. when she learned she had won $500.

Mrs. Turner's entry had one incorrect letter.

A resident of Pennndel practically all her life, living at that address for the past 15 years, Mrs. Turner said she has been doing COINWORD ever since it started in the Courier-Times.

"I kept hoping one day I would win something," she exclaimed, "and now I can't believe that I did."

Then, almost as an afterthought, she added, "You aren't joking about this, are you?"

Assured by the caller that it was not a joke, she said, "You have no idea how I can use the money. It's coming at a wonderful time." Mrs. Turner didn't elaborate, but she added that it would "certainly be put to good use."

Mrs. Turner and her late husband had no children.

A new COINWORD, Puzzle No. 182 started yesterday and appears again to day on Page 14.

A correct solution to COINWORD Puzzle No. 182 will bring the winner $50. If there is more than one winning entry, the $50 will be shared.

If no one wins Puzzle No. 182, Puzzle No. 183, which will appear next week, will be worth $100, with $50 added to each week there is no winner.

Mrs. Anna M. Turner of Pennndel displays the $500 check she received yesterday.

MISSING BOY, 10, FOUND DEAD IN PIT

By PAUL ALTAIRE
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Ten-year-old John Dellea, the mentally retarded boy missing from the Woods Schools summer camp in Middletown Township since Tuesday, was found dead today.

His body was discovered at the bottom of a disposal pit on the school grounds at 8:55 a.m.

Middletown Police Chief Howard Shook said he apparently fell into the pit.

The discovery of the boy's body came after three days of searching the 550-acre wooded grounds of the school by volunteer firemen, Boy Scouts, 200 soldiers from Ft. Dix, N.J. and helicopters and bloodhounds.

An autopsy performed at Lower Bucks County Hospital disclosed death was caused by drowning.

Water at the point where the boy's body was found was 12 feet deep. Police said there were no marks of violence.

The body was discovered by Augustine Iannuzzi, a plumber's helper at the school, who lives at 1600 Strong St., Bristol.

On Wednesday, firemen and Boy Scouts searched in and around the area without success. Yesterday, Chief Shook requested help from Ft. Dix, and 200 soldiers, comprising four platoons under Army Capt. Donald R. Mason, combed the thickly wooded area between the Superhighway and Route 1 and waded through cornfields with stalks as high as 10 feet.

The soldiers ended their search at 8 o'clock last night and returned to Ft. Dix.

They returned to the school grounds at 6 a.m. today and continued their systematic search, mapped out by Middletown police and Army officers on the school grounds.

Throughout the search, the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dellea of Randolph, Mass. waited anxiously at the school grounds.

The Delleas have four other children ranging in age from 15 months to eight years, and are expecting another.

They were stunned this morning when Chief Shook informed them their son had been found dead.

At no time was the FBI in on the case since there was no evidence or indication that the boy had been lured off the grounds or kidnaped.

But the complexity of the wooded area made the search difficult. Today it was narrowed down along a shallow stream leading to the disposal pit.

Although the pit is enclosed with a high wire fence, there is a small opening along the stream into which the missing boy could have crawled.

Chief Shook said it is impossible the boy may have chuffed a seizure, not possible to him, and then fallen into the pit.

P.W. Battling for G.G.G.

The magic number is 36.

For the Phillies, that is — not for Goldwater or Johnson. For them it's 39.

If the Phillies win 36 out of their remaining 42 games nobody can beat them. If the total of their victories and defeats for San Francisco and Cincinnati is 36, nobody can beat the Phillies.

And if either Sen. Goldwater or President Johnson wins 39 of the 50 states, they're in like Flynn, too. Any 39; dope it out for yourself.

Here in Bucks County, though, it seems there are a few potential voters who are bound to lose.

County Commissioner Chairman Bodley doesn't want an extra registration day in Bristol Township, and we can't see any rhyme or reason behind his stand—except possibly partisanship.

When one political party tries to make it as difficult as possible for citizens to register we'd say that party was running scared — real scared.

And, wonder of wonders, that Newportville Road Bridge over the Neshaminy may open at last within a few days.

About time. The bridge has been closed to traffic for almost a year, 18 months overall in the building. Even the ancient Egyptians did better than that.

School Board Keeps Insurance Records Secret

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township's school board met for four hours last night but the taxpayers took part in less than three hours of the monthly session. In between the school directors held an executive session lasting an hour and 20 minutes.

What they discussed behind closed doors supposedly was later aired before the audience which numbered only four persons at 11:40 p.m. when the directors ended their private talks.

Before adjourning at 1:15 a.m. today, the school board decided that, despite its solicitor's opinion, insurance records of the school district should not be made available to the public.

Says Public Records

The solicitor, Samuel Glantz, recently rendered his decision in which he said they were public records and should be available to inspect upon request by private citizens.

Last night, however, the board instructed Superintendent Robert P. Martin not to allow anyone to see the insurance policies. This direction came after a motion by George Fischer was tabled.

Fischer had moved that only the school board, school personnel, administrators or persons directed by the school board be permitted to inspect the records.

Another director, Charles McGrath, had a different view. He said the insurance records should be open to public view. But his pleas fell on deaf ears.

Aside from making the records unavailable to the public, the school board debated ways of surveying its insurance policies to determine if it was "getting the most for the least." No decision was reached.

BELIN (UPI) — The United States today awaited a Soviet reply to its protests that a Soviet sentry fired two bursts with a submachine gun on a U.S. Army patrol car in East Berlin Sunday.

The United States warned the Soviets Wednesday that the incident "could lead to extremely serious consequences." Officials said there was no reaction from the Soviets when the two U.S. protest notes were delivered, and it was not known when a reply would be made.

Warn Demos In Atlantic City They Want To Be Seated

Mississippi Integrationists Arrive

ATLANTIC CITY, (UPI)—Three busloads of Mississippi integrationists rolled into town today with a warning that a failure to seat them at the 35th Democratic National Convention would cost the party thousands upon thousands of Negro votes in November.

The largely Negro group, representing the newly formed Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, flatly rejected a proposed settlement of their credentials fight with the state's all-white regular party delegation.

Aaron Henry, chairman of the Freedom party, said his group would not accept a compromise said to have White House approval because any compromise with the regulars would be "evil."

Henry, a Clarksdale, Miss., over this country — and whites too who are concerned with freedom — will be watching Atlantic City.

If the Democrats seat the regular Mississippi delegation, he said, it would "register negatively with thousands and thousands of Negroes across the country." He predicted they would show their disapproval by boycotting the polls in November.

Lack Committee Votes

Henry, who is also president of the Mississippi NAACP, said his group did not yet have the 11 Credentials Committee votes necessary to bring the fight to the convention floor should his group be turned down by the committee.

But Joseph L. Rauh Jr. of Washington, D.C., counsel for the group, said he thought "we

Last night's arrests by Patrolman Frank Moffett and Gervis Hentz, were made at 10 p.m. outside the Five Points Diner, Levittown. Police have made numerous arrests in recent months following disturbances outside the diner.

Twp. To Discuss Restoring Streets In Sewer Projects

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Restoration of Bristol Township streets, torn up by the installation of sanitary sewers, is expected to be discussed next Wednesday night when the township commissioners resume their regular meeting.

The board, faced with a heavy agenda two nights ago, had to recess its business at 12:25 a.m. yesterday. The meeting will be reconvened at 8 p.m. next Wednesday in the cafeteria of Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, Mill Creek Road, Levittown.

Repaving of streets in the Edgely sewer project is expected to come in for discussion next week. Commissioner Charles Worthington, from the fifth ward, this week requested that some Edgely streets be broken up and then paved with oil and stone chips.

Under the sewer contract, all streets in Edgely are to be oiled and chipped on top of existing paving.

Worthington asked for a change in the procedure since some streets today are not in decent condition. He suggested that the township do the repaving, rather than the contractor, with the township authority paying for the work.

Prior to next Wednesday's meeting, Worthington will meet with the authority, the township manager, Ronald Zweig, and the township engineering representative, James Darrah, to map the program.

Worthington and the other three minority commissioners, Harry Fawkes, Joseph Bellerby and Larry Cerasoli, are expected also to discuss the township's recent suit brought against the authority.

The township had sought to enjoin the authority, its consulting engineers and contractor from restoring certain streets in the Croydon sewer project. The township charged the streets are being done in violation of contract specifications to the detriment of the residents of the township.

After hearing two days' testimony in Bucks County Common Pleas Court, Judge Paul R. Beckert denied the township's request, contending the commissioners had not established there was "financial harm to the authority or to residents."

Defense of the suit by the authority and engineers was estimated to have cost close to $15,000.

Water Problem

Township Manager Zweig is arranging a meeting with Bristol Borough officials regarding the problem of inadequate water supply to more than 200 families in the Croydon area. He and Commissioners Fawkes, Bellerby, Cerasoli, James N. Kline, Richard Bonner and Anthony Mello are expected to meet with borough officials in early September to discuss a feasibility study of the water problem.

The Croydon homes receive their water supply from borough lines.

Also in the manager's monthly report, Zweig disclosed: Contracts for the new $500,000 township municipal building should be awarded by the end of September with the architect's plans to be completed next week.

Negotiations are being made with Rohm and Haas Co. for a $1 per year lease of 10 acres of land, adjacent to the sewer treatment plant, for the erection of a new public works building. The building would house the equipment and vehicles of the department and also contain facilities for the maintenance of public works and police vehicles.

At long last the Newport-Newportville bridge over Neshaminy Creek is completed and it appears only a matter of days before residents of the two communities can commute across the creek without driving over a long detour. Final state inspection is scheduled for today with only minor touch-ups and cleaning remaining. Work on the new span started May, 1963. The old two-lane bridge was closed to traffic in early winter and dismantled in early summer. The $500,000 bridge is about 14 feet higher than the old bridge and should be above even the highest flood waters. Work on the bridge is about three weeks ahead of schedule, according to the State's calendar. This photo shows the bridge from the Newport side in Bensalem Township. (Courier-Times Photo)

Medium Range Missile Project To Be Scuttled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon is on the verge of killing its Mobile Medium Range Ballistic Missile (MMRBM) program after investing more than $100 million in the project.

Once described by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara as one of the major weapon developments started during the Democratic administration, the MMRBM was advocated by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and supreme allied commanders in Europe as an essential replacement for obsolescent aircraft and older missiles.

The MMRBM, under development by the Air Force, was to be a highly mobile, nuclear-armed rocket for use on land or sea with a range of between 500 and 1,500 miles.

Cancellation of the project seemed likely to stir mutual recriminations between Congress and the Defense Department.

Each has blamed the other for certain failures in pressing the project. This year, Congress decided to cut to $40 million the department's request for $110 million for the MMRBM.

Port Bill Hearing 'Expenses' Rapped

Hitting at what he termed "lobbying costs," State Secretary of Highways Henry D. Harral yesterday questioned the use of commission funds to pay the expenses of those who had attended Senate Judiciary Subcommittee hearings in Washington last week.

Harral's question was raised at a meeting of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, of which he is ex-officio a member, at Phillipsburg, N. J. and referred to the hearings on the controversial "Port Upstream" legislation which would enable the commission to undertake port development in the Bucks-Burlington - Mercer County area on both sides of the river.

Take Exception

Though Harral directed his question to no one in particular, members of the commission who had attended the hearings to explain the commission's position in the port development, took exception to Harral's question which specifically asked who paid the expenses for rooms and how much and who paid the expenses of other people who attended the hearings. He also asked "shouldn't we have an opinion from the solicitor on whether these expenses are proper?"

Commissioner Morris Gerber, one of the members who attended the hearings, told Harral that the expenses were legitimate and said he "resented the use of the words 'lobbying expenses'." He also said the accusation was an insult to the commission members.

Guy Swope, another of the commissioners who attended the hearings told Harral that he deeply resented the accusation of lobbying and "your questioning my honesty."

Gerber said "If he wants a ruling let him get it from the Attorney General."

Out Of Pocket

Commission Chairman Edward K. Driebe explained to Harral that the commission had been very careful with the expenses in Washington and that no one other than commission members had their expenses paid and even they had paid for some things out of their own pockets.

Acting Executive Director of the commission William R. Johnson said that any outsiders who had dinner with the commissioners in Washington would be invoiced for the cost in keeping with arrangements made before the hearings opened.

Driebe told Harral that the cost of the dinner was $7.00 per person and that the "Dutch Treat" aspect of the affair was clear to everyone who was there.

Sore Point

Harral later said he was sorry that the matter was such a sore point but that he just wanted to know who had paid the expenses but some observers charged his remarks were intemperate.

Harral also accused the commission of unethical dealings in the matter of the Burlington-Bristol bridge controversy saying it had offered lower tolls to quiet opposition to the proposed high-level six-lane span to replace the present two-lane draw-bridge.

In denying the charge, Johnson stated that estimates on toll costs could not be made until the detailed revenue study now underway is completed.

Also discussed at yesterday's meeting was the date and place of hearings on the proposed New Hope - Lambertville bridge. The hearings are scheduled to be held at 8 p.m. on September 24 at S. Hunterdon Regional High School, Lambertville, N.J.

Principal Frank J. Furgele today announced that candidates are to report to the school gymnasium by 4:15 p.m. Monday. Any Wilson co-ed in 10th, 11th or 12th grades can try out, he added.

Semi-final tryouts will be held Monday at 4:30 p.m. with 18 girls to be selected for the finals which will take place next Wednesday at 4:30 p.m.

He requested girls to report to the tryouts in gym suits.

The Reilly Raiders Senior Drum and Bugle Corps will put on an exhibition along with the Bracken Cadets. Marching with Reilly are 10 past members of Bracken.

Vote Day Up In Air

Bucks County Commissioner Walter S. Farley Jr. at noon today, carried his fight to the court room to have an extra registration day in Bristol Township tomorrow.

Farley, through attorney Virgil White of Yardley, will ask county Judge Paul R. Beckert to restrain commission chairman John J. Bodley from preventing the chief clerk from fixing the date.

Bodley and his fellow Republican commissioner, Joseph O. Canby, yesterday declined to approve an extra day of registration at Five Points in Levittown.

The decision to go to court followed a discussion with County Solicitor Samuel S. Gray this morning.

Earlier, Ward F. Clark, first assistant district attorney, refused to grant Farley a similar order. Clark said, however, that Farley under the doctrine of "self help," could go and register the voters himself.

4 Injured In Accident

Four persons received minor injuries yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision in Cornwells Heights.

Taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Bucks County Rescue Squad were Mary Brede, 16, of 1515 Bristol Pike, Cornwells Heights, operator of one of the cars, her passenger Dorothy Buck, 16, of 2593 Forest Ave., Edgington; Mrs. Marie Pierce, 39, of 33 Thurston Ave., Trenton, operator of the other car, and her son Stephen, 8. All were released after treatment.

Bensalem Township police said the accident occurred at 3:15 p.m. on Route 13 near Woodbine Ave. Officer Richard Bolton is investigating the accident which did no estimated $1,000 damage to each car.

Board Backs Girl Bowlers

Bristol Township will be sponsoring a girls' bowling team this year but the taxpayers won't be footing the bill.

After being advised by their solicitor, Leonard Sokolove, to "put your money up on the table not out of general funds," the commissioners decided to split the $43.50 fee 13 ways. Besides the 10 commissioners, the township manager, Ron Zewig; township secretary, John Monahan, and Sokolove will divide the cost.

The team will comprise girls working in the township municipal building.

In their request for sponsorship, the girls explained that "Bristol Township Board of Commissioners" would be lettered on the back of their bowling shirts. "This is one time we'll be glad to have you on our backs," the letter concluded.

Lindsay To Ask For Equipment

A proposal to buy dictaphones and an electric typewriter for the Middletown Township police will be made tonight at the township supervisors caucus.

John L. Lindsay, Democratic supervisor, said he will propose the purchase in order to provide the police department with more time for investigation and routine police work.

According to Lindsay, the acquisition would "help police morale" by alleviating the amount of paper work now necessary.

"Two to three hours each day are spent by the police in filling out accident reports and other written materials. This is time that should be spent in the field working for the public's safety," he said.

Another benefit, he explained, would be that the amount of overtime, for which the police are not paid, would be substantially reduced.

At present there are 25 police officers in Middletown's department. The FBI recommends one policeman for every 1,000 citizens. Since the township's population is now nearly 30,000, the force does not quite measure up to the radio.

Apartment potential is figured on the basis of 20 units per acre. This means the Bellardo tract could support a 100-unit building. If approval is granted, the new apartment to be built will be called Tyburn Apartments.

James and Julius Bellardo are requesting a zone change on their five-acre tract from commercial to garden apartment. The Bellardos presently operate an automobile graveyard on the tract located on Trenton Road

The other petition for a zone change from commercial to garden apartment is from Michael and Rose Sayko who own a 14.2 acre parcel on Newportville and Penn Valley Road. The potential here is 285 units. The apartment will be named Fallsington Manor.

The architect for both apartments is Martin Laibow of Cornwells Heights.

LBJ's Election Pep Talk: Times Good, You Know It

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's message to the nation's businessmen — and just about everyone else — this election year is: "Times are good — and you know it."

The Chief Executive has been holding a series of White House meetings with representatives of various groups, businessmen, labor leaders, educators, to urge national unity, offer pep talks about the United States economy and call for cooperation in backing the new civil rights law.

His meeting Thursday with 338 executives of small businesses from all over the nation was typical of such sessions. He urged them to lead their communities in promoting economic growth and expansion and preserving respect for law and order.

"Some believe our great question today is who we choose for our political leadership this fall," Johnson said. "I am not entirely disinterested in that choice, but I believe the greater question is how well and how wisely our non-political, non-officeholding leadership leads us all."

He said that of the 4.6 million businesses in the United States 4.6 million are classified as "small." But these companies together "generate 40 per cent of our economy's business activity — provide livelihood for 75 million Americans — jobs for 40 per cent of the labor force," the President said.

In addition, Johnson said, "every American community draws its base of leadership, stability, its continuity and its striving for progress from responsible and progressive small businesses."

"We ask of you — we urge upon you — the use of your freedom and of your business prosperity to continue to promote the growth and expansion of this economy," Johnson said, adding, "Times are good — and you know it."

Police Chief Honored By Rotarians

Chief of Police Vincent A. Faragalli of Bristol yesterday was named Honorary Rotarian of the year by the Bristol Rotary Club in recognition of his services to the people of the community during the past year.

Faragalli was welcomed as an honorary member by Dave Norman, president of the club, at a luncheon meeting in the Cavalier Room, Beaver Dam Road near Route 13.

A pin and a plaque bearing Rotary's motto were presented to him by C. Willard Berglund, past president and past district governor of District 745, Rotary International.

Bristol Rotary each year selects a citizen who has done outstanding work for the community as an honorary member. Last year's was Warren Snyder, retired supervisor of the Bristol schools, and the honor was given to Livingston Joyce, former borough engineer and 50-year borough employee, in 1962.

Faragalli, who has been the borough's police chief for eight years, also was named Man of the Year by the Bristol Lions several years ago.

3 Youths 'With Nothing To Do' Wind Up In A Pack Of Trouble

Three youths "with nothing to do" wound up in a pack of trouble early this morning with Bristol police.

The three were arrested after they damaged several autos, smashed the green light out of a traffic signal, and broke a window in the Warren Snyder School.

Police identified the youths as John Dutton, 19, of 2301 Ave. A, Newportville; Dominic Molnar, 17, of 31 Murphy Drive, Terrace 1, Bristol Township, and Harry Follin, 17, of 22 Shumacher Drive, also Terrace 1.

Molnar was released in the custody of his parents. The others have been detained for further questioning.

found the sticks and pounded on anything they felt like. Damage has been tentatively estimated at $25 to $30.

Syncom Ready For Maneuver

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's new Syncom-3 satellite hung over the Pacific today in a unique orbit provided by skillful rocketry, ready to be nudged to its ocean-spanning radio and television relay station.

A computer failure Thursday delayed a precise positioning report on the moonlet but scientists were confident it was either in the world's first truly stationary orbit, or within easy reach of it.

"Everybody is real happy, confident and relaxed," a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) spokesman said Thursday night at the Greenbelt, Md., control center. "The folks feel very good about it."

If Syncom-3 is not already in proper alignment with the equator, small gas jets aboard the craft can make the necessary correction. NASA said the satellite is at the 22,300-mile altitude needed to match its orbital speed with earth's rotation to give it the stationary effect.

Acid Tale Teller Held

A Bristol Borough man who fabricated an acid-throwing story was arrested yesterday by Bristol police on charges of disorderly conduct.

The man, Ronald Hughes, 20, of 28 Fourth Ave., is scheduled for a hearing on that charge tonight at 7:30 before JP Eugene Spadaccino.

Police decided to charge Hughes because of the disturbance caused by his false story.

Hughes was admitted to Lower Bucks Hospital on Tuesday with burns of his eyes. At that time he said acid was thrown in his face by youths in a car.

Under questioning by Sgt. Michael Manto, Hughes admitted he had sustained the burns while using a welding torch at his place of employment. The man told Manto he made up the story so as not to get his boss in trouble. He also admitted he ignored his employer's orders to wear goggles while using the torch.

Hughes was arrested by Sgt. Manto upon his release from the hospital yesterday.

4 Americans Killed In Viet Nam Drive

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Four American military advisers were killed last night while helping two battalions of Vietnamese rangers drive off a battalion of Communist Viet Cong guerrillas who had overrun a government outpost.

The outpost is near Phu Tuc village, 50 miles south of Saigon in the guerrilla-infested Nekong Delta.

The Communists attacked well before dawn yesterday behind a covering barrage of 60 - millimeter mortars, killing seven of the 36 defenders, wounding 13 and capturing 15. Two guerrillas were killed and five were captured in the government counter-attack.

Three village children, two girls and one boy, were killed by stray shells.

The relief battalions rushed in by helicopter and on foot. One U. S. - piloted helicopter was shot down when its oil line was severed but the crew escaped injury.

The four Americans — three officers and one enlisted man — with the ground force were not so lucky. They were killed in an ambush, according to reports reaching Saigon.

Their bodies were recovered and brought to Saigon by helicopter.

They brought the total of American combat deaths in South Viet Nam to 186. An additional 87 have died from accidents and other causes, for an over-all U. S. death toll of 273 since large-scale American aid began in 1961.

Scott Raps Indian Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Thursday Congress fell short of its moral and traditional obligations in compensating the Seneca Indians for leaving their reservation in northwestern Pennsylvania.

The tribe, consisting of 140 families, will have to move off the land by Oct. 1 to make way for the Kinzua Dam, a flood control project on the upper Allegheny River.

Congress this week approved a $15 million compromise bill to pay the Senecas for moving to a new reservation near Salamanca, N.Y., and Warren, Pa.

"While the $15 million figure is a substantial one and represents a compromise toward the larger House fund, I do not think we members of the Senate should be congratulating ourselves for a 'generous' settlement," Scott said.

"The construction of the Kinzua Dam was an important and forward looking gesture by the government," he said, "but of equal importance and concern, it seems to me, is the honoring of our moral and traditional obligations to the great Seneca Indian nation. We must never neglect this responsibility for the sake of expediency."

The government broke the nation's oldest treaty, signed between the Senecas and George Washington in 1794, to confiscate the land and build the dam.

Scott Hurt By Barry, Clark Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., believes that the presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater will give the Democrats two senators from Pennsylvania.

Clark said Thursday that Goldwater has "desperately, maybe fatally hurt" Republican incumbent Hugh Scott's chances for re-election.

"In my judgment, and I could be wrong, Miss Genevieve Blatt will, in the reasonably near future, be certified as the Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate and she will go on to beat Sen. Scott in the November elections," Clark said.

Miss Blatt is the apparent winner for the Democratic nomination by a few hundred votes over Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, who is contesting the vote before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Clark said he was surprised that Scott, a liberal, would support Goldwater's conservative views.

"I think (Pennsylvania Gov.) Bill Scranton must have twisted Hugh's arm," Clark said. Scranton announced his support for Goldwater after futilely opposing him for the GOP presidential nomination.

Clark made his remarks in a television interview (CBS "Capitol Cloakroom").

Auto Workers See Walkout

CHICAGO (UPI)—The United Auto Workers union said Thursday a walkout is inevitable unless the "big three" automakers improve their economic offers but did not decide which manufacturer would be its strike target.

The UAW national councils of each of the big three flatly rejected the most recent contract offers of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler in a one-day meeting here.

Negotiations continued with General Motors and Chrysler today in Detroit with UAW President Walter P. Reuther scheduled to enter the bargaining sessions for the first time Monday.

Reuther told reporters Thursday "there will be a strike in the auto industry in 1964" unless the big three boost their economic offers. He said the union would put its entire $65 million strike fund on the line.

Reuther said the international executive board will meet next Wednesday in Detroit to select the target.

Traditionally the union selects one of the big three firms, trains its bargaining big guns on that firm and exacts a contract settlement. The contract then is taken to the other companies and they are forced to follow the pattern.

UAW contracts covering nearly 600,000 workers at GM, Ford and Chrysler expire at midnight Aug. 31.

Judge Backs Ga. Right To Protest

By United Press International A federal judge Thursday enjoined the city of Albany, Ga., from denying Negroes "the right to protest racial segregation."

Albany, once a prime target for integration by Dr. Martin Luther King, has been a focal point of racial unrest periodically for more than two years. The sweeping injunction was handed down by federal Judge J. Robert Elliott who prohibited the city from arresting Negroes for peaceful picketing in small numbers, gathering in front of the city hall in groups of reasonable size and walking peacefully along public sidewalks.

Elliott also enjoined the city from unreasonable denial of parade permits and said it may not prohibit such activities by arrest, threat of arrest, harassment or intimidation by police. The injunction is the result of an appeal in a suit filed in 1962 by King and Albany Negroes.

In other federal court actions, a judge and an attorney for a exchanged heated words Thursday in Atlanta during a civil rights hearing.

"You cannot ram this (civil rights law) down the throats of the people of the South," attorney William McRae told the court.

"You don't speak for all Southern people and don't use this court as a political soapbox," Appeals Judge Griffin Bell shot back. "If you want to make a speech go out on the sidewalk."

The exchange came during a hearing on a request by restaurant owner Lester Maddox that the court stay an injunction directing him to integrate his restaurant. Maddox closed his restaurant rather than serve Negroes and is sking the Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of the civil rights law.

Elsewhere:

Jackson, Miss.: Forty-two Negro first graders applied Thursday to attend previously all-white schools in a registration process free of incidents. It was the first move toward public school desegregation in Jackson.

Live Oak, Fla.: Two Negro men and a young girl were held by police on an open charge today following an integration incident Thursday in which one of the Negroes allegedly waved a revolver at a crowd of whites after being refused service at a restaurant.

Chicago: Police removed all barricades and stationed only a token force last night in suburban Dixmoor where rioting earlier in the week injured 60 persons and resulted in the arrest of 80 others.

Thief Offers Some Advice

NEW MALDEN, England (UPI) — A thief broke into a house here through a kitchen window and carted away the silverware after leaving the following note in the owner's typewriter: "In future please close all your windows."

U.N. Asks End To Blockade

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—The United Nations, anxious to preserve the fragile peace on Cyprus, today tried to persuade President Makarios to honor an agreement to lift an economic blockade against Turkish Cypriot communities.

Authoritative sources said the bearded Greek Cypriot leader, who earlier promised to lift the food and water blockade, had reneged.

They said that now he was demanding the reopening of the strategic road between Nicosia and Kyrenia as a precondition for ending the blockade. The road to the northern port is the last major portion of Cyprus still controlled by Turkish Cypriots.

Congress Set For Recess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress planned to recess today to allow Democrats to attend their national convention, but when legislators return in two weeks, they will face several pressing problems.

Still to be acted on are controversial measures dealing with state legislative reapportionment and the administration's proposal to include health care for the elderly in the bill increasing Social Security benefits.

In the House, tentative plans have been made to call President Johnson's billion dollar Appalachia area plan up for a vote when Congress returns Aug. 31 from the convention. The Senate still has not acted on the program.

The complicated reapportionment have tied up the Senate for more than a week as a small band of liberals carried on a small-scale talkathon against Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's proposal. It would delay any court-ordered reapportionment through one session of a state legislature.

The House has approved its own measure that would forbid the court and lesser federal courts from ruling on any case involving apportionment of state legislatures.

Other congressional news: Snoopers: Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., said Americans are fast becoming "a nation of snoopers," attacking each other's privacy psychologically and electronically.
